ITS NOT TOO EARLY TO BOOK YOUR SPRING GOLF TRIP

Earlier this week I got a call from a group organizer asking me when was the best time to book something for next spring. My answer was very simple, how important is it to you and your group to get the tee times you want and the prices your looking for. With new pricing strategies from some of the area's top courses, now if a good time to make your plans. As an example, one of Myrtle Beach's top ten courses just introduced a pricing program that rewards you for booking your package early. This particular course has graduated discounts of up to 40% if you book six months out. Another top ten course discounts its special early morning rate by an additional $20.00 if you book before December. If you are looking for a Spring golf package for you and your group now is the time to start looking.

ITS NEVER TOO LATE TO PLAY SOME GOLF

As the leaves turn color and the temperatures begin to fall, its apparent that the 2014 golf season is coming to an end.

That said, its not time to put your clubs away yet. There are still some great late fall and winter golf packages available where golf's third season is just beginning. This past year we developed relationships with some of the top courses in Arizona, Las Vegas, and Orlando, and can offer you and your group great golf year round. No More... Lugging Clubs Through Airports Worrying about Lost or Damaged Clubs

DON'T LEAVE HOME WITHOUT THEM

A well known credit card company offered this suggestion to travelers for years. Although that may have been good advice for travelers as far as credit cards go, it may not however be the best advice for some of our traveling golfers, when it comes to bringing your clubs with you when you travel. Traveling with your clubs can be cumbersome and costly and it not the answer for everyone.

A recent survey of golfers found that unless you are a serious golfer, someone that plays a lot and has invested heavily in their clubs, renting clubs when you travel may be the better solution.
